IN Afterschool Standards and Specialty Standards

Purpose

The purpose of the Indiana Afterschool Standards is to outline the path and steps that lead to high quality youth programs that take place outside the school day. The afterschool standards are based on national research and best practices in the youth development and education fields. Standards revisions last occurred in 2021.

The IN Afterschool Standards and Specialty Standards are voluntary statewide standards that may serve as:

- A framework of clear expectations for all stakeholders.
- A guide to inform statewide decision-making, for example, professional development focus areas, funding support and advocacy.
- A guide for program providers to assess their own program site and organizations to help determine what they are doing well and what needs improvement.
- A guide for parents and youth to identify quality programming.
- A guide for school principals and district superintendents to reinforce and advance educational priorities.

About the Family Engagement Specialty Standards

Indiana continues to lead the nation with standards for the out-of-school learning field with the new specialty standards. The Family Engagement Specialty Standards outline best practices and recommendations specific to engaging families in programming for K-12 youth in out-of-school time education programs. The standards were developed through the continuing partnership between the Indiana Department of Education and the Indiana Afterschool Network. Family engagement experts and out-of-school learning providers including 21st Century Community Learning Centers grantees, researched standards from national organizations working with children, youth and families. The standards provide guidance for afterschool programs on how to improve support, increase family engagement, provide professional development and monitor the effectiveness of their engagement efforts.

The Indiana Quality Program Self-Assessment Tool uses the following rating scale to help you and your team assess the degree to which each quality indicator is evident in the program. The definitions outlined below are to help guide the reviewers' understanding of the numeric ratings.

4 = Excellent/ Exceeds Standard

EXCEEDS STANDARD means that the program is exceptional or outstanding in this area because it implements nearly all or all of the Standards-Based Practices for this indicator. The relevant Standards-Based Practices are demonstrated in clearly observable ways.

Family Engagement Glossary

Culture: The total range of activities and ideas of a group of people with shared traditions which are passed on by and expected to be observed by members of the group. Culture can also be defined as the behaviors and beliefs characteristic of a particular social, ethnic, or age group.

Examples of things that mark culture include art, food, language, dances, music, customs, holidays, and religion (The Indiana Partnerships Center).

Family diversity: A broad range of characteristics or dimensions on which families vary, along with a recognition that there are a multitude of different family types that function effectively. Family diversity refers to variations along structural or demographic dimensions (including race/ethnicity and socioeconomic status), as well as in family processes (including communication and parenting behaviors) (Van Eeden-Moorefield & Demo, 2007)

Family engagement framework: An essential set of beliefs and guidelines that programs can use to develop, expand, and support their approach to family engagement.

Examples of frameworks include:

- Illinois State Board of Education, Family Engagement Framework

- U.S. Department of Education, Partners in Education: A Dual Capacity-Building Framework for Family–School Partnerships

- U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, The Head Start Parent, Family, and Community Engagement Framework

Parent leaders: Parent leaders use and develop resources and services to strengthen their families. They speak and act from those experiences (Reynolds & St. John, 2012).

Parent advocates: Parent advocates speak for and act on behalf of others as they empower them (Trainor, 2010). Parents may speak up for their own children, or join with others to represent the needs of many children (Cunningham, Kreider, & Ocón, 2012).
